Whether you prefer to talk it out, draw it out or play (usually the kids like this one), I can help you express yourself! There is healing after pain, there are new skills to acquire to be in a relationship with others, there are problems to work out. There are healthy ways to return to a state of regulation and grow in your resilience. Having someone to guide you through this can lead to a fuller, healthier life than you ever thought possible.

Alice Riley LCSW

Getting help for yourself, your child or your family is not a weakness - it is a strength! You're refusing to accept unhappiness and committing to improving your life. My office offers a quiet, private, comfortable home like environment for you to heal.

In my 25 years of work as a social worker, therapist, and child welfare supervisor, I aspired to provide unique supports and interventions to clients, families and staff. I have been in the Denver Metro Area since 2008, coming here from New York City.

Therapy is also something you can engage in when you are feeling stuck or you simply want to be "better" in every part of your life. You don't need to wait until you have symptoms or something "serious."

Call for a consultation and let's see if we are a good fit!
